

Set 1: drug, live, fight, better, histori, children, respons, centuri

Set 2: deficit, deduct, balanc, budget, cut, trillion, revenu, add

Set 3: love, experi, children, faith, daughter, man, part, person

Set 4: thank, togeth, hope, trust, promis, futur, elect, opportun

---

BILL CLINTON Well, first, Jim, let me thank you and thank you, Senator Dole, and thank you, ladies and gentlemen, all of you listening tonight for the chance youve given us to appear. I want to say in the beginning that I am profoundly grateful for the chance that you have given me to serve as president for the last four years. I never could have dreamed anything like this would come my way in life, and Ive done my best to be faithful to the charge youve given me. Im proud of the fact that America is stronger and more prosperous and more secure than we were four years ago. And Im glad were going in the right direction. And Ive done my best tonight to lay out my plans for going forward to an even better future in the next century. Id like to leave you with the thought that the things I do as president are basically driven by the people whose lives I have seen affected by what does or doesnt happen in this country. The auto worker in Toledo who was unemployed when I was elected and now has a great job because were number one in auto production again. All the people Ive met who used to be on welfare who are now working and raising their children. And I think what others could do for our country and themselves if we did the welfare reform thing in the proper way. I think of the man who grabbed me by the shoulder once with tears in his eyes and said his daughter was dying of cancer and he thanked me for giving him a chance to spend some time with her without losing his job because of the Family and Medical Leave Act. I think of all the people I grew up with and went to school with and who I stay in touch with and who nerve let me forget how what we do in Washington affects all of you out there in America. Folks, we can build that bridge to the 21st Century, big enough and strong enough for all of us to walk across, and I hope you will help me build it.

MODERATOR Senator Dole, your closing statement, sir.

BOB DOLE Thank you, Jim; thank you, Mr. President; thank everyone for watching and listening. I want to address my remarks to the young people of America, because theyre the ones that are going to spend most of their life in the 21st Century. Theyre the ones who have the challenges and they are people out there making predictions that its not going to be the same. Youre not going to have the opportunities; there are going to be more deficits, more drugs, more crime, and less confidence in the American people. And thats what youre faced with, the parents are faced with, and the grand parents are faced with. Its important, its their future. And I would say to those I know there are more young people experimenting with drugs today than ever before; drug use has gone up. And if you care about the future of America, if you care about your future, just dont do it. And I know that Im someone older than you. But Ive had my anxious moments in my life. Ive learned to feed myself and to walk and to dress. Im standing here as proof that in America the possibilities are unlimited. I know who I am, and I know where Im from, and I know where I want to take America. We are the greatest country on the face of the earth. We do more good things for more people in our communities, our neighborhoods, than anywhere that I know of. This is important business. This election is important. I ask for your support, I ask for your help. And if you really want to get involved, just tap into my home page, www. DoleKemp96. org. Thank you. God bless America. Transcription by; AM Court Reporting, White Plains, NY. Conlin, A. O'Donnell, A. Sikora, K. Jones, D. Hughes, J. Tepper, K. Ortilano, J. Spinozzi (staff) .