

Text 2

LEHRER: All right, let's go to the next lead question, which is essentially following up on this same subject. And you get two minutes to begin with, Senator McCain, are there fundamental differences between your approach and Senator Obama's approach to what you would do as president to lead this country out of the financial crisis?