BILL CLINTON Lets look at that. When I ran for president, I said wed cut the deficit in half in four years; we cut it by 60 percent. I said that our economic plan would produce eight million jobs, we have ten and a half million new jobs. Were number one in autos again, record numbers of new small businesses. I said wed put, pass a crime bill that would put 100, 000 police on the street, ban assault weapons, and deal with the problems that ought to be dealt with with capital punishment, including capital punishment for drug kingpins, and we did that. I said we would change the way welfare works, and even before the bill passed wed moved nearly two million people from welfare to work, working with states and communities. I said wed get tougher with child support and child support enforcements up 50 percent. I said that I would work for tax relief for middle class Americans. The deficit was bigger than I thought it was going to be. I think theyre better off, all of us are, that we got the interest rates down and the deficit down. Republicans talk about it, but were the first the first administration in anybodys lifetime looking at this program to bring that deficit down four years in a row. We still gave tax cuts to 15 million working Americans, and now Ive got a plan thats been out there for two years, it could have been passed already, but instead the Republicans shut the government down to try to force their budget and their plan on me, and I couldnt take that. But well get the rest of that tax relief. And so I think when you look at those results, you know the plan Ive laid out for the future has a very good chance of being enacted if youll give me a chance to build that bridge to the 21st Century.
